The book cover features a painting of a religious scene. In the center, a black-skinned figure wearing a golden crown and a red robe stands on a wooden ladder. This figure is holding a small, similarly crowned and dressed child. To the left, a young boy with blonde hair, dressed in a dark green robe, is adjusting a white and gold patterned garment on the black-skinned figure. In the bottom right corner, an older man with white hair, also in a dark green robe, is kneeling and looking up at the scene. The background is a vibrant, textured blue with radiating lines emanating from behind the central figures. The overall style is expressive and painterly.
